Disclaimer: I have done my best to compile a list of materials that is practical, Islamically ecumenical and encompassing different levels of literacy and skills. I have attempted to exclude any materials that might be considered extremist, but I did not read every word of every book and do not guarantee their contents to be free of views that might reasonably be considered extremist. The inclusion of these books should not be construed as my endorsement of the views of the authors expressed in these books or elsewhere. I explicitly disclaim any responsibility for the use of these materials to justify any criminal or immoral action.

Obtaining the materials: I have tried to include as much bibliographic information as possible. Most of these materials can be purchased from on-line book sellers. Here are some I have used but I do not endorse any of them nor do I guarantee their integrity or service:
