American Theological Library Association
300 South Wacker Drive, Suite 2100
Chicago, IL 60606-6701 USA
www.atla.com

ATLA is a nonprofit, 501(c)(3), professional association, headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. ATLA's mission continues, providing benefits to a growing membership, exposure and royalties to religious and theological publishers, and excellent research tools to meet the needs of libraries, librarians, scholars, students, and religious leaders.
The mission of the American Theological Library Association is to foster the study of theology and religion by enhancing the development of theological and religious studies libraries and librarianship.

Board of Directors
The ATLA Board of Directors consists of twelve directors, organized in three classes of four directors each. Four directors are elected by the membership of the Association each year. The board elects, from among it’s number, three officers: the president, the vice president, and the secretary.

2012-2013 Officers
President
Andrew J. Keck (Luther Seminary)

Vice President
Beth Bidlack (Burke Library)

Secretary
Eileen K. Saner (Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary)

Committees
Finance Committee
John B. Weaver (chair), Andrew J. Keck, Timothy D. Lincoln

Governance Committee
Douglas L. Gragg (chair), Kelly Campbell, Melody Layton McMahon, Eileen K. Saner

Moral Ownership Task Force
John B. Weaver (chair), Kelly Campbell, Sandra Lipton

Nominating Committee
H.D. Sandy Ayer (chair), Joanna Hause, Armin Siedlecki

*André Paris passed away on September 30, 2012. The Board of Directors appointed Tammy L. Johnson to complete the term beginning October 22, 2012.
From the President

Dear ATLA Colleagues,

The American Theological Library Association (ATLA) is structured as a membership association, consisting of both institutional and personal members. For those who are individual members or work for an institutional member of ATLA, you are among the ownership of ATLA. There is no other group of shareholders or private equity partners that oversee ATLA — it is just us members! From the general membership, twelve persons are elected to represent the interests of the entire membership on the Board of Directors.

A focus of our work this past year has been ATLA membership, especially as the “moral owners” of the Association. The Board of Directors sponsored a lunch at the Annual Conference where we could share ideas and concerns about our profession. We heard much about the importance of management and leadership among skills needed for the librarian of the future. Digital publishing and changes to theological education were described as critical opportunities in our theological libraries. Finally, librarians identified information-seeking skills and collections of e-resources as among the emerging research needs of our library users. All of the conversation and data gathered has provided helpful insights as we continue to imagine the future of ATLA.

As Brenda Bailey-Hainer joined us as the Executive Director in December 2011, the Board has rightly focused some time and energy into establishing a proper governing relationship. In the past year, we have completed several ongoing efforts to improve our board governance through: providing governance training to every new board member; systematically revising and updating our board documents and policy manual; establishing a new pattern of monitoring reports on our organizational effectiveness and health; adding a third Board meeting to ensure proper oversight and governance; restating our Organizational Ends as outcomes; and selecting McGladrey as our new audit firm. While not particularly “flashy” work, the Board has developed a strong foundation for effective governance.

Finally, the Board acknowledged two significant losses in our work together over the past year: our Board member, André Paris, and our former Executive Director, Dennis Norlin. Both were significant advocates for and supporters of ATLA. Their voices and presence will be missed.

Sincerely,

Andrew J. Keck
ATLA Board President 2012-2013

Foster
the study of theology and religion
Dear ATLA Colleagues,

Looking back at the past year, I realize that ATLA spent it looking to the future.

During the last year and a half, staff conducted a long overdue examination of the internal production system used to create our products. Building on that work, we were able to envision our needs for a future system, and at the end of fiscal year 2013, we’re in the final stages of selecting a development partner. This new system will allow ATLA more flexibility in designing and delivering future products.

ATLA ended fiscal year 2013 in a strong financial position. Actual revenue was very close to the budgeted amount and expenses came in significantly under budget. The resulting savings were carried forward to fiscal year 2014 to pay for the one-time costs for the development and implementation of the new production system.

More content was added to ATLA’s current products, with ATLASerials® full text collection reaching a milestone of 250 titles with the addition of twelve new or historically significant titles. ATLA Religion Database® added twenty-one titles to its coverage and ATLA Catholic Periodical and Literature Index® added fourteen. Many of the additional titles are published in languages other than English and cover a variety of religions and faiths.

As part of an overall effort to solidify ATLA’s future position, at the 2013 ATLA Annual Conference the Endowment Committee announced a short term goal of increasing ATLA’s Endowment Fund to $1 million. To support those efforts, ATLA used product revenue to match every contribution dollar for dollar that was made between June 2012 and May 2013. Additional contributions were received as part of early 2013-2014 membership renewals. As a result of these increased contributions in conjunction with accumulated interest, on August 31, 2013, the Endowment Fund had a balance of $330,219 – an increase of nearly $41,000 over the previous year.

A significant part of ATLA’s mission is to enhance the development of theological and religious studies libraries and librarianship. Over $30,000 from the Scholarships and Grants Annual Fund was used to cover $7,000 in Travel Grants to support member attendance at the annual conference and $23,000 to support the 2013 Wabash Colloquy on The Role of Theological School Librarians offered jointly with the Wabash Center for Teaching and Learning in Theology and Religion. In further support of developing future leaders in theological librarianship, professional development continued to be a funding priority. Revenue from products supported ATLA’s mission by providing nearly $28,000 in grants for regional continuing education programs, publications and Theological Library Month activities, as well as for diversity scholarships and for free or discounted registration for the conference through the Member Product Loyalty Program.

The best way to predict the future is to create it. During the 2013 fiscal year, ATLA made the necessary investments in infrastructure, research, and a new generation of leaders to ensure that ATLA’s mission is carried forward into the future.

Sincerely,

Brenda Bailey-Hainer
ATLA Executive Director
2013 Annual Conference

The 2013 ATLA Annual Conference was held in Charlotte, North Carolina, June 19-22, 2013. Bringing together over 300 members, exhibitors, and guests from around the world, the conference provided a wealth of ATLA educational programs, interest group meetings, excursions, and events against a backdrop of exciting downtown attractions. The conference was co-located with the annual meeting of the Center for the Study of Information and Religion (CSIR).

The Local Host Committee planned several opportunities for attendees to experience Charlotte, including excursions to the Billy Graham Library, a Charlotte Knights’ baseball game, and a tour of the historical and archival materials of the NASCAR Hall of Fame (sponsored by the Special Collections Interest Group).

Under the theme “The Speed of Change,” the conference featured over 100 papers, conversation groups, workshops, interest group meetings, panels, posters, worship sessions, denominational group meetings, and more.

- Over 80% of attendees indicated that the conference did a good or excellent job of ensuring that librarians at all career stages and specializations have increasing knowledge, abilities and skills.
- Over 77% of attendees indicated that the conference did a good or excellent job of developing collaborative relationships locally, regionally, and throughout the world to enhance the preparedness of librarians.

Diversity Committee

The Diversity Committee recommends practices and programs related to recruitment, retention, development, and advancement of diverse members; receives applications, evaluates and selects recipients for the ATLA Scholarships to Promote Diversity; encourages collaborative relationships with communities of diverse professionals; ensures diverse perspectives in programs at the ATLA Annual Conference and other activities of the association; promotes research that supports diversity in theological and religious studies libraries; and shares resources and services related to issues of diversity.

The Diversity Committee: Stephen Sweeney (chair), Lynn Berg, Daniel Flores, Stella Wilkins.

Scholarship to Promote Diversity in Theological Librarianship

The ATLA Diversity Committee awarded $3,000 in scholarships to two individuals attending a Theological Librarianship course at an ALA-accredited master's program in library and information studies. They included:

Shanee' Yvette Murrain, MDiv, MLS, is Project Coordinator for the Religion in North Carolina Digital Collection Collaborative Digitization Project at Duke University Divinity School Library. Shanee’ will use this scholarship to support her enrollment in the Theological Librarianship Course at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign. Shanee’ is an individual member of ATLA and presented a poster at the 2013 ATLA Annual Conference.

Christopher A. Stewart is a Missional Fellow working toward a Masters of Divinity at Wesley Theological Seminary and a Masters of Library and Information Science candidate at the Catholic University of America. Christopher will use his scholarship to support his enrollment in the Religious Archives Institute at the Catholic University of America, a three-credit intensive course. Christopher is a student member of ATLA.

Endowment Committee

The Endowment Committee informs the membership of the purpose of the Endowment Fund, the cultivation of donor relationships, and the solicitation of major gifts through planned (estate) gifts and other funding sources.
International Collaboration Committee

The International Collaboration Committee coordinates the Association’s activities regarding international theological librarianship and supports efforts of individual libraries and librarians who participate in international theological librarianship activities. It also serves as a liaison with international theological library associations.

International Collaboration Committee: Terry Robertson (chair), Christopher Anderson, Timothy P. Erdel, and Cindy S. Lu.

BETH

Brenda Bailey-Hainer, ATLA Executive Director, and Terry Robertson, ICC Chair, attended the 41st General Assembly of BETH (Bibliothèques Européennes de Théologie), with representatives from over ten countries, in historic Belfast, Northern Ireland, September 8-12, 2012. The theme of the meeting was “Religion in Conflict.”

IFLA

ATLA Executive Director Brenda Bailey-Hainer attended the 2013 International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA) General Conference and Assembly, August 19-23 in Singapore. She also attended the satellite meeting, IFLA LIS Education in Developing Countries Special Interest Group (SIG) on August 14. The program was titled “The Future of LIS Education in Developing Countries: The Road Ahead.” She also visited two ATLA International Institutional Member Libraries, Singapore Bible College Library and Trinity Theological College Library.

Professional Development Committee

The Professional Development Committee determines the continuing education needs of members and provides appropriate opportunities for members to obtain this professional development outside the context of the Annual Conference.

Grants for Continuing Education Programs

ATLA Grants for Continuing Education Programs support regional groups and ATLA Institutional member libraries as they create educational programming for librarians and library staff. In 2012-2013, the Professional Development Committee awarded over $1,000 in funding for regional group programs.

- Southwest Area Theological Libraries Association, “Dead Sea Scrolls & the Bible” exhibit at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary
- Boston Theological Institute, “E-Resources, E-Books and Collection Development”
- Minnesota Theological Library Association, “Marketing Your Library in an Academic Environment”

Publications Committee

The Publications Committee serves as a catalyst within the Association for encouraging and supporting scholarly publication. It also serves as an advisory committee to the editor of the ATLA Book Series and to the ATLA Communications Specialist; develops a strategic plan for publishing critical tools for use by members of the profession in keeping with the mission and Organizational Ends of the Association; and consults with the Professional Development Committee, the Annual Conference Committee, and the Education Committee to develop and promote workshops and programs related to scholarly publication.

Publication Grants

The ATLA Publications Committee awarded $4,000 in Publication Grants to three ATLA members. Recipients and projects included:

- Dr. Carisse Mickey Berryhill, Associate Dean of Digital Initiatives, Special Collections, and University Archives, Abilene Christian University, for her project “Conversations with Theological Librarians”
- Saundra Lipton, Anthropology, Archaeology, Philosophy, and Religious Studies Librarian, University of Calgary, for her project “Simone Weil Bibliography”
- Dr. John B. Weaver, Dean of Library Services and Educational Technology, Abilene Christian University, for his project “Christian Theology in Digital Culture”

Theological Librarianship

Theological Librarianship is the Association’s open-access journal providing essays, columns, critical reviews, bibliographic essays, and peer-reviewed articles on various aspects of theological librarianship and its contribution to theological education. Theoretical Librarianship celebrated their five year anniversary.

Summary of Proceedings

The 66th Annual Summary of Proceedings is a historical record of the ATLA Annual Conference. The Proceedings includes the annual reports of ATLA committees, interest groups, and regional consortia; summaries of the pre-conference professional development workshops; reports of business meetings, interest group meetings, denominational sessions, and conversation groups; texts or programs from worship meetings; as well as the full text or abstracts of plenary sessions, papers, posters, and workshops presented during the conference. Proceedings was available both in EPUB and Kindle formats available for the public. Individual, Student, and Lifetime Members and Institutional, International Institutional, and Affiliate Member Representatives received a printed copy of the Proceedings.

Theology Cataloging Bulletin

Theology Cataloging Bulletin (TCB), a quarterly newsletter of the Technical Services Section Interest Group, was published November, February, May, and August. It contained listings of new and changed subject headings and classification numbers in appropriate subject areas as well as other information of interest to religion/theology catalogers.
Theological Libraries Month

ATLA awarded mini-grants to twelve libraries across the United States and Canada to support their celebration of Theological Libraries Month (TLM) throughout October.

2012 Theological Libraries Month grant recipients include:
• Boston University School of Theology Library
• Columbia Theological Seminary
• Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary (Mill Valley, California)
• Graduate Theological Union Library
• Methodist Theological School in Ohio
• Pontifical College Josephinum
• St. Charles Borromeo Seminary
• St. Peter’s Seminary (London, Ontario)
• Trinity Lutheran Seminary (Columbus, OH)
• Urbana Theological Seminary
• Wartburg Theological Seminary
• William Jessup University

2013 Wabash Colloquy on The Role of Theological School Librarians

Fourteen individuals were selected to participate in the 2013 Wabash Colloquy on The Role of Theological School Librarians, jointly sponsored by the Wabash Center and the American Theological Library Association.

Selected participants were:
• Lyle Buettner, Concordia Seminary
• Jaeyeon Lucy Chung, Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary
• Matthew Collins, Candler School of Theology — Emory University
• James Marion Darlack, Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary
• James Estes, Wesley Theological Seminary
• Christina Geuther, University of St. Mary of The Lake
• James Robert Humble, St. Charles Borromeo Seminary
• Jane Marie Pinzino, Earlham School of Religion
• Kelly Riddle, Boston University
• Sandy Shapoval, Phillips Theological Seminary
• Karl Stutzman, Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary
• Matthew Thiesen, Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary
• Matthew Walter Wasielewski, Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary
• Nicholas Weiss, Naropa University

The Leadership Team for the Colloquy included Caît Kokolus, St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, Amy Limpitlaw, Boston University School of Theology, and Paul Myhre, Wabash Center.
ATLA Receives IMLS Grant to Explore Preservation Needs in Small Theological and Religious Studies Libraries

ATLA received a 2013 National Leadership Grants for Libraries Planning Grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Sciences (IMLS) in the amount of $46,500. The grant will support the project, “In Good Faith: Collection Care, Preservation, and Access in Small Theological and Religious Studies Libraries,” in partnership with the Catholic Library Association (CLA) and the Association of Jewish Libraries (AJL).

During the grant period, the American Theological Library Association, the Catholic Library Association, and the Association of Jewish Libraries will assess the collection care, preservation, and access practices of small theological and religious studies libraries and begin to identify valuable and vulnerable collections held in these institutions. The centerpiece of the project will be a survey designed for and deployed to institutions that may not have previously been included in such studies. Existing standards and practices that help libraries respond to their unique circumstances will be promoted to the targeted libraries and at the same time the partners will communicate the challenges and opportunities faced by these libraries to the larger library and research communities. Finally, the project will explore collaborative initiatives to respond to identified long-term collection care, preservation, and access needs.

ATLA Focuses on Preservation with Survey

The ATLA 2012 Preservation Survey, available to the Association’s 282 institutional and affiliate member libraries in the United States and Canada, from October through December 2012, was accessed by ninety-six libraries, a 34.0% response rate, and completed by ninety-five, a 33.7% completion rate.

Overwhelmingly, respondents agreed that preservation should continue to be a priority activity for ATLA. The survey showed a strong interest from the membership for preservation education, funding, and collaboration activities becoming centerpieces of ATLA’s evolving preservation program. Members’ responses also showed a growing concern for and involvement in the digitization of materials and digital preservation. Responses indicated that a lack of environmental controls, space, and funding and personnel for preservation were considered by member institutions as their most serious preservation problems.

Based on findings from the preservation survey, ATLA will explore several of the recommendations submitted by members. Efforts will focus on five key areas:

- Education
- Promotion
- Consultation
- Funding
- Leadership

ATLA Products and Services

ATLA offers a comprehensive product line of electronic resources to support the scholarly study of religion and theology. These resources include the ATLA Religion Database® (ATLA RDB®), ATLASerials® (ATLAS®), and the ATLA Catholic Periodical and Literature Index® (ATLA CPLI®). ATLA RDB is the premier online index of citations covering journal articles, book reviews and essay collections in all fields of religion. ATLAS is an online full-text collection of major religion and theology journals. ATLA CPLI provides indexing from 1981 forward of periodicals, essay collections, and church documents expressly addressing the practice and intellectual tradition of Roman Catholicism.

ATLASerials® (ATLAS®) Reaches a Milestone

ATLASerials® (ATLAS), ATLA’s online full-text collection, has reached a milestone of 250 journals. In 2001 ATLA launched ATLAS with fifty journal titles selected by respected and accomplished religion scholars. As of this year 250 distinct serials were digitized and made available in the ATLAS collection. ATLA also signed several licenses to digitize additional journals in the upcoming year.

ATLAS® for ALUM: Post-Lilly Grant Funding Renewals

Final disbursement of Lilly grant funding for ATLASerials for ALUM effectively paid for all participating schools' subscriptions through June 30, 2013. One goal of the Lilly grant was to achieve a self-sufficient product offering in ATLAS for ALUM by reaching 70% paid renewals following the grant period. During the first several months of 2013, ATLA staff conducted extensive outreach to grant recipients to facilitate post-grant renewals. ATLA is pleased to report we have surpassed our goal — 80% of participating schools renewed their ATLAS for ALUM subscription with institutional funding. This success independently confirms that ATLA member schools value this product offering enough to commit institutional funding toward continued access for their alumni/ae.

ATLA CPLI® for ALUM

ATLA and EBSCO launched a new product offering, the ATLA Catholic Periodical and Literature Index® for ALUM, for alumni/ae interested in searching the valuable resources they used as students. The ATLA CPLI for ALUM may be purchased by any institution that subscribes to the ATLA CPLI. With this product offering, institutions can directly support their alumni/ae by providing them access to the premier index of periodicals, essay collections, church documents, papal documents and electronic resources expressly addressing the practice and intellectual tradition of Roman Catholicism. This offering builds on the success of other ATLA for Alum product offerings through EBSCO, including ATLA Religion Database® for ALUM, and also ATLASerials® for ALUM, which provides full-text access to key journals in religion and theology.

To support and promote the work of theological libraries and scholars, ATLA had the pleasure of taking part in the following conferences:

2012 NFAIS Humanities Roundtable XI: Focus on the Library!

The National Federation of Advanced Information Services (NFAIS) held the Eleventh Annual NFAIS Humanities Roundtable, “Focus on the Library!,” on October 1, 2012. Beth Bidlack, ATLA Board Vice President and Collection Assessment and Analysis Librarian, Dartmouth University, presented at the event and Margot Lyon, ATLA Director of Business Development, was a member of the planning committee.

Lilly Websites Consultation

The annual Lilly Websites Consultation, sponsored by the Religion Division of Lilly Endowment, was held at Duke University, October 7-9, 2012. Brenda Bailey-Hainer, ATLA Executive Director, and Rick Rybak, ATLA Senior Business Development Representative, attended this annual consultation of Lilly funded web based religion sites. The first day of the event focused on Social Media. The second day, John Weaver, ATLA Board Member and Dean of Library Services and Educational Technology, Abilene Christian University and Education on the Web, presented “Education on the Web.”

AAR & SBL Annual Meetings

The Annual Meetings of the American Academy of Religion (AAR) and the Society of Biblical Literature (SBL) were held jointly in Chicago, November 17-20, 2012. A very important annual event for ATLA, it offers the best venue for reaching the faculty, students, scholars, and members who use ATLA products and provides opportunities to meet with current and potential business partners.

Hundreds of the estimated 10,000 attendees visited the ATLA exhibit booth to inquire about our products and membership options. Some loyal patrons stopped by to offer their thanks and encouragement and were offered a chance to win an iPad donated by one of our vendors, Integrated Data Storage (IDS). Video testimonials were also gathered. ATLA partner and friend, Jenee Woodard, was also on hand to visit with users and fans of her website, The Text This Week.

ATLA proudly welcomed members, partners, and customers to our hometown with two well-attended receptions. Over sixty people enjoyed Saturday evening hors d’oeuvres and spirits served with a beautiful view of the river and downtown Chicago from the offices of the Quarles & Brady law firm. Monday morning coffee, pastries, and bagels were enjoyed by over forty early risers in the Burnham Pointe building in Printers Row.

Association of College & Research Libraries (ACRL)

ATLA staff hosted an exhibit booth and reception at the ACRL 2013 Conference in Indianapolis and a reception at the historic Canterbury Hotel nearby. This biennial conference is an opportunity to meet with ATLA members, subscribing customers and end-users, who often express respect for ATLA products and offer suggestions for improvement and enhancement.

Independent Auditor’s Report

To the Board of Directors
American Theological Library Association
Chicago, Illinois

Report on the Financial Statements
We have audited the accompanying financial statements of American Theological Library Association (the Association) which comprise the statement of financial position as of August 31, 2013, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion
In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of American Theological Library Association as of August 31, 2013, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
Emphasis of Matter

As described in Note 13 to the financial statements, the Association has restated beginning net assets to correct for errors in the application of accounting principles. We have audited the adjustments described in Note 13 that were applied to restate the September 1, 2012 financial statement balances. In our opinion, such adjustments are appropriate and have been properly applied. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Mission & Organizational Ends

The mission of the American Theological Library Association is to foster the study of theology and religion by enhancing the development of theological and religious studies libraries and librarianship.

Established in 1946, the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) is a professional association of nearly 1,000 individual, institutional, and affiliate members providing programs, products, and services for theological and religious studies libraries and librarians. As part of fulfilling its mission, ATLA creates electronic resources to support the scholarly study of religion and theology.

ATLA exists so that:

Libraries and librarians are increasingly effective and valued partners in the academic study of religion, theology, and ministry.

Subsidiary Ends 1 and 2 are in ranked order. Below that level, the ends are increasingly specific elaborations, numbered to indicate their relationship to 1 and 2. The ranking of the Ends does not dictate the proportion of resources allocated.

1. Libraries are served by a continuing, prepared, and diverse complement of librarians.

   1.1 A sufficient number of qualified librarians serves libraries.

   1.2 Librarians at all career stages and specializations have increasing knowledge, abilities and skills.

      1.2.1 Librarians are effective advocates for their libraries and the profession.

      1.2.2 Collaborative relationships locally, regionally, and throughout the world enhance the preparedness of librarians.

   1.3 ATLA reflects the diversity of our communities and institutions, including but not limited to religious, racial, ethnic, and gender divisions.

2. Institutions and individuals have access to primary source material and scholarly resources that are organized, preserved, and made accessible at a reasonable expenditure of funds, time, and resources.

   2.1 Libraries, librarians, scholars, students, and religious leaders have access to tools and services that meet current and emerging research needs.

      2.1.1 Research and development initiatives successfully address needs for improved and new products and services.

      2.1.2 Collaborative initiatives involving members successfully address information-related opportunities and problems.
