From the President

Dear ATLA Colleagues and Friends,

During the past year, the work of the ATLA Board of Directors has centered on the theme of “envisioning our future together.” Throughout the year, the Board listened to our membership as we considered our future as an association. To facilitate this work, we have engaged the services of consultant Paul Meyer, President and Co-CEO of Tecker International. In October 2013, Paul talked with the Board, some of the ATLA staff, and the leaders of ATLA’s committees and interest groups about healthy association practices and the strategic alignment of committee and interest group work with ATLA’s Organizational Ends. During the week prior to the Board’s February 2014 meeting, Brenda Bailey-Hainer, ATLA Executive Director, and I attended the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE) Symposium for Chief Executive and Chief Elected Officers. The event included opportunities to network with other association leaders, to learn strategies for engaging members, and to imagine new models for leadership. The following week, Paul joined the Board meeting again to facilitate a conversation that included the following topics: the lifespan of associations, board members’ duties and responsibilities, core values of associations, four-part board agendas, the importance of environmental scans, and how to create goals for the future. In June 2014, the Board continued our work with Paul in strategic planning and direction setting for the association, work which culminated in this statement: “In keeping with the Association’s mission and its express commitment to diversity, the Board moves to explore ways the association can be more responsive to and inclusive of libraries and librarians representative of a broad spectrum of religious traditions and perspectives.” We look forward to continuing our conversations with Paul Meyer and the ATLA membership during the coming year.

Part of strategic thinking is securing funding for that future. This year, Brenda has once again set aside funds for research and development. The Endowment Committee has renewed its efforts to raise money for our association. After much careful discussion, the Board proposed an increase to individual and student membership dues, which have not been increased in nearly twenty years. The Board’s proposal will appear on the January 2015 ballot.

While much of the year was focused on the future, the Board continued to revise policies and procedures that will assist our current work. For example, we have outlined the responsibilities of Board members and have compiled documentation so that future board candidates will have a clearer understanding of what it means to be an active board member. In addition, the Board continues to refine its procedures for monitoring the performance of our executive director via regular monitoring reports and an annual review. Finally, the Board continued to hone portions of our Board Policy Manual.

On behalf of the Board, thank you to our members, to leaders of our committees and interest groups, and to the ATLA staff for your ongoing support and engagement in the work of our Association. I look forward to another year of thoughtful and rewarding collaboration!

Sincerely,

Beth Bidlack
ATLA Board President
From the Executive Director

Dear ATLA Colleagues and Friends,

ATLA ended fiscal year 2014 on sound financial ground. Actual revenue met budget expectations and expenses came in 15 percent under budget. The majority of ATLA’s revenue continues to originate in its online information products, with additional income from annual membership dues, annual conference registrations and sponsorships, and interest on investments. A year ago ATLA contracted with a development partner to help design and implement a new internal production system that will be used to create our products. Work on that new system continued throughout fiscal year 2014. This new system, which is scheduled to be completed during the first half of next year, will allow ATLA more flexibility in designing and delivering future products. Excess revenue from 2014 will be carried over into fiscal year 2015 to cover the remaining cost of implementing the new system and to continue investment in research and development for new products and services.

In addition to safeguarding revenue from products, efforts are being made to assure supplemental revenue for future use. The Endowment Committee continued its efforts to reach a short term goal of an Endowment Fund valued at $1 million (turn to page 6 for more information.) Throughout the year other association money was re-invested in the association in various ways — by matching gifts to the Endowment Fund, through Member Product Loyalty Program support for annual conference attendance and donations to the Scholarships and Grants Annual Fund, and with grants for regional continuing education programs and Theological Libraries Month, diversity scholarships, and support for Theological Librarianship.

While product revenue underwrites achievement of the mission, the future of ATLA really lies in its membership. Enhancing the development of theological and religious studies libraries and librarianship continues to be a funding priority. New Orleans was the festive location for the truly extraordinary annual conference, with many learning opportunities for all. New faces from around the world graced the conference, bringing a more diverse set of attendees representing different religious traditions and perspectives.

Diversity was also a theme within ATLA’s current products. A particular emphasis has been placed on adding full text published in languages other than English and which covers a variety of religious traditions and faiths. In particular, full text titles in ATLASerials® grew by 16 percent with the addition of thirty-six new titles from around the world.

This year was marked by some significant staff leadership changes. Long-time Director of Production Cameron Campbell retired in December, and Maria Stanton took over leadership of that department in late January. Director of Member Programs Miguel Figueroa left in May and I am serving as Interim while seeking a replacement for him. While we are sad to say farewell to colleagues, departures always open up the possibility for new ideas and perspectives.

The 2014 ATLA Annual Conference opened with inspiring words from Joseph P. Lucia, Dean at Temple University Libraries, who shared the story of creating a vision for a new library building on their campus. The phrase that planners used to describe that vision still resonates with me, “Calling its diverse communities together for inquiry and exploration, interaction and study.” These same words aptly describe the aspirations of ATLA. This year was a year well spent in preparation for just such an envisioned future.

Sincerely,

Brenda Bailey-Hainer
ATLA Executive Director
The 2014 ATLA Annual Conference was held in New Orleans, Louisiana, June 18-21, 2014. Bringing together over 300 members, exhibitors, and guests from around the world, the conference provided a wealth of ATLA educational programs, interest group meetings, excursions, and events set in the rich culture and heritage of the French Quarter.

The Local Host Committee planned several opportunities for attendees to experience New Orleans, including excursions to the New Orleans School of Cooking, Cemetery & Voodoo Walking Tour, Oak Alley Plantation, and the National World War II Museum.

Under the theme “Experience the Extraordinary,” the conference featured over 100 papers, conversation groups, workshops, interest group meetings, panels, posters, worship sessions, denominational group meetings, and more.

Conference Travel Grants

ATLA was pleased to provide nineteen travel grants of $600 each, a total of $11,400, to support members’ participation in the ATLA Annual Conference. Travel grants are supported by the ATLA Scholarships and Grants Annual Fund which is made possible by the generous donations of ATLA members, institutions, supporters, and partners.

96.5% of respondents indicated that the annual conference is important or very important for developing collegial relationships locally, regionally, and throughout the world.

88.6% of attendees indicated that this year’s conference did an excellent or good job in achieving this end.
Member Product Loyalty Program

ATLA’s Member Product Loyalty Program benefits Institutional, International Institutional, and Affiliate Members that subscribe to the ATLA Religion Database® and ATLASerials®. ATLA reinvested $10,956.25 to provide participants with free or discounted registration for the 2014 Annual Conference. Institutions benefiting from the Member Product Loyalty Program include:

Diversity Committee

The Diversity Committee recommends practices and programs related to recruitment, retention, development, and advancement of diverse members; receives applications, evaluates and selects recipients for the ATLA Scholarships to Promote Diversity; encourages collaborative relationships with communities of diverse professionals; ensures diverse perspectives in programs at the ATLA Annual Conference and other activities of the association; ensures diverse perspectives in programs at the ATLA Annual Conference and other activities of the association; encourages collaborative relationships with communities of diverse professionals; ensures diverse perspectives in programs at the ATLA Annual Conference and other activities of the association; promotes research that supports diversity in theological and religious studies libraries; and shares resources and services related to issues of diversity.

Diversity Committee: Daniel F. Flores (chair), Lynn Berg, Jaeyeon Lucy Chung, and Stella Wilkins.

Scholarship to Promote Diversity in Theological Librarianship

The ATLA Diversity Committee awarded $2,400 in scholarships to two individuals working toward their MLIS degrees.

Drew Baker is the Acquisitions Librarian at Claremont School of Theology working toward a Master of Library and Information Science at San Jose State University. Drew has a passion for diversity. Growing up as a lower class Buddhist in a predominantly Christian city, he unfortunately learned to be quiet and to not express his religious views. As he grew older he began to study religion, diversity, and oppression in an academic environment culminating with his dissertation on Buddhists in the United States.

Kindra Morelock is working toward a Master of Library and Information Science degree at University of Illinois Champaign-Urbana. Growing up as a Korean adoptee with Caucasian parents, her perspective is middle-class Caucasian-American; however, “I have had the race-based experiences that my fellow Asian-Americans have experienced based solely on the way that I look.” She stated that living and raising her children in the mostly African-American, underprivileged East Garfield Park neighborhood in Chicago, immediately increases diversity in whatever situation she is in.

Endowment Committee

The Endowment Committee informs the membership of the purpose of the Endowment Fund, the cultivation of donor relationships, and the solicitation of major gifts through planned (estate) gifts and other funding sources.

At the end of the fiscal year, the Fund had a balance of $416,032, an increase of $85,800 over the previous year as the result of increased contributions in conjunction with accumulated interest.
Endowment Committee: Dan LaValla, chair (through March 2014 when he resigned from committee), Dennis Swanson, Chair (beginning March 2014), and Marti Alt.

International Collaboration Committee

The International Collaboration Committee coordinates the Association’s activities regarding international theological librarianship and supports efforts of individual libraries and librarians who participate in international theological librarianship activities. It also serves as a liaison with international theological library associations.

International Collaboration Committee: Christopher J. Anderson (chair), Cindy Lu, Tim Erdel, and Ferne Weimer.

BETH

The 42nd General Assembly of BETH (Bibliothèques Européennes de Théologie) convened September 11-15 in Paris, France at the FIAP Jean Monnet and the Institut Catholique de Paris. The theme of the meeting was “Tradition, Modernity and the Future of Theological Libraries.” ATLA members present at the event included: Chris Anderson, Brenda Bailey-Hainer, Eileen Crawford, Melody Mazuk, and John Weaver. Brenda Bailey-Hainer, ATLA Executive Director, led a discussion session on how ATLA and BETH might collaborate more closely in the future to support theological librarianship throughout the world.

Professional Development Committee

The Professional Development Committee determines the continuing education needs of members and provides appropriate opportunities for members to obtain this professional development outside the context of the Annual Conference.

Grants for Continuing Education Programs

ATLA Grants for Continuing Education Programs support regional groups and ATLA Institutional Member libraries as they create educational programming for librarians and library staff. In 2013-2014, the Professional Development Committee awarded $2,420 in funding for regional group programs.

Creating Leaders of Tomorrow

The Creating the Leaders of Tomorrow Program works with mid-career theological or religious studies librarians to develop the knowledge and skills necessary to become effective library directors and leaders in the theological library community.

The nine participants include:
- James Darlack, Goddard Library - Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary
- Jason Fowler, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary
- Karla Fackler Grafton, Westminster Theological Seminary - PA
- James Humble, St. Charles Borromeo Seminary
- Terese Jerose, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary
- David Kriegh, St. Patrick's Seminary & University
- Susanna Pathak, Sacred Heart School of Theology
- Matthew Thiesen, Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary
- Christina Torbert, University of Mississippi

The Future of Libraries in Theological Education

Twelve institutions were selected to participate in The Future of Libraries in Theological Education: A Conversation with Chief Academic Officers, Information Technology Officers, and Library Directors. The program, sponsored by the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) and Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada (ATS) was held as a one-day pre-conference event on Tuesday, June 24, 2014, ahead of the 2014 ATS/COA Biennial Meeting in Pittsburgh, PA.

The twelve selected institutions included:
- Baptist Missionary Association Theological Seminary
- Chicago Theological Seminary
- Claremont School of Theology
- Columbia Theological Seminary
- Lancaster Theological Seminary
- Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary / Lenoir-Rhyne University
- Nazarene Theological Seminary
- Pittsburgh Theological Seminary
- Princeton Theological Seminary
- Shaw University Divinity School
- St. Charles Borromeo Seminary
- Wesley Theological Seminary
The Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) awarded the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) and its partners, the Catholic Library Association (CLA) and the Association of Jewish Libraries (AJL), a National Leadership Grant for the project “In Good Faith: Collection Care, Preservation, and Access in Small Theological and Religious Studies Libraries.” A survey of small libraries and archives with collections focused on theology and religion was completed as part of this project, drawing 235 responses from a broad range of libraries and archives associated with educational institutions, churches, synagogues, or other houses of worship, independent libraries and archives and various “other” types of theological and religious based collecting organizations. A report on the survey was published, as well as a series of webinars.

The Advisory Committee, including members of the project’s partners and representatives of the research community, included:

American Theological Library Association
- Dr. Sharon A. Taylor, Pittsburgh Theological Seminary
- Michael Boddy, Eden Theological Seminary

Association of Jewish Libraries
- Elizabeth F. Stabler, Stettenheim Library, Temple Emanu-El
- Ilka Gordon, Jewish Education Center of Cleveland

Summary of Proceedings

The 67th Annual Summary of Proceedings is a historical record of the ATLA Annual Conference. The Proceedings includes the annual reports of ATLA committees, interest groups, and regional consortia; summaries of the pre-conference professional development workshops; reports of business meetings, interest group meetings, denominational sessions, and conversation groups; texts or programs from worship meetings; as well as the full text or abstracts of plenary sessions, papers, posters, and workshops presented during the conference. Proceedings is accessible in both ePub and Kindle formats and is available to the public. Individual, Student, and Lifetime Members and Institutional, International Institutional, and Affiliate Member Representatives had the option of receiving a printed copy of the Proceedings.

Theology Cataloging Bulletin

Theology Cataloging Bulletin (TCB), a quarterly newsletter of the Technical Services Section Interest Group, was published November, February, May, and August. It contained listings of new and changed subject headings and classification numbers in appropriate subject areas as well as other information of interest to religion/theology catalogers.

Theological Librarianship

Theological Librarianship is the Association’s open-access journal providing essays, columns, critical reviews, bibliographic essays, and peer-reviewed articles on various aspects of theological librarianship and its contribution to theological education.

Editorial Board included:
- Ron Crown - Section Editor, Peer-Review Articles
- Gary V. Daught - Section Editor, Columns
- Dan Kolb - Section Editor, Bibliographic Essays
- Melody Layton McMahon, (succeeded in January by) Miranda H. Bennett - Section Editor, Critical Reviews
- David Stewart - Managing Editor; Section Editor, Essays

Theological Librarianship published two editorials, six columns (two web reviews, two profiles, two Diktuon/tech columns), six essays, one special forum (on Best Professional Development Experiences), two peer-reviewed articles, three bibliographic essays, and thirteen critical reviews.

355 libraries list Theological Librarianship in their holdings (compared to 280 in 2013).

Libraries in the following countries include Theological Librarianship in their holdings: Australia, Austria, Canada, Denmark, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Netherlands, New Zealand, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, United Kingdom, and United States.

Since 2009 the majority of Theological Librarianship readership has come from five countries: United States, Canada, United Kingdom, Australia, and India. Readers from the Philippines, Germany, the Netherlands, Indonesia, and South Africa complete the top ten. Statistics show the repeat visit count is slowly trending upward and that increasingly readers are using tablets and mobile devices to access the journal.
ATLA offers a comprehensive product line of electronic resources to support the scholarly study of religion and theology. These resources include the ATLA Religion Database® (ATLA RDB®), ATLASerials® (ATLAS®) and the ATLA Catholic Periodical and Literature Index® (ATLA CPLI®). ATLA RDB® is the premier online index of citations covering journal articles, book reviews and essay collections in all fields of religion. ATLAS® is an online full-text collection of major religion and theology journals. ATLA CPLI® provides indexing from 1981 forward of periodicals, essay collections, and church documents expressly addressing the practice and intellectual tradition of Roman Catholicism.

ATLASerials® (ATLAS®) Continues to Grow

ATLASerials® (ATLAS®), ATLA’s online full-text collection, grew to 290 journals, a 16 percent increase over last year. Newly added titles expand the collection’s coverage, including international and non-English journals, a widening variety of religions and faiths, as well as additional ceased titles, providing libraries, librarians, scholars, students, and religious leaders with the premier source of high quality resources from the late 19th century to the present.

Islam in the Modern World, 1804-1918

Islam in the Modern World, 1804-1918, and new subseries of the ATLA Historical Monographs Collection, is a collaboration of ATLA and EBSCO released in June 2014. This new segment includes 150 titles, 172 volumes, and more than 52,000 pages. It covers the beliefs, practices, theology, spirituality, and history of Islam. Content includes biographies of the prophet Muhammad, works comparing Christianity and Islam, key theological and philosophical texts (including the Quran), relevant mystical and spiritual works, and texts surveying the history of Islam.

ATLA CPLI® Incorporates New Features

ATLA Catholic Periodical and Literature Index® (ATLA CPLI®) has two new features for enhanced searching. The Publications Authority File is a tool which displays coverage information and other details on the journals indexed in the database, allowing users to perform a variety of tasks, including: searching within a publication, retrieving items by journal issue, and subscribing to RSS feeds for EBSCOhost journal alerts. Also new to ATLA CPLI® is the Genre Limiter, which narrows searches to particular genre types.

2013 NFAIS Humanities Roundtable XII: Partnerships and Best Practices: Critical Issues Impacting Humanities Content Providers, Librarians and End Users

The National Federation of Advanced Information Services (NFAIS-www.nfais.org) held the Twelfth Annual NFAIS Humanities Roundtable, Partnerships and Best Practices: Critical Issues Impacting Humanities Content Providers, Librarians and End Users, September 30, 2013, in Chicago. ATLA co-sponsored the event, along with the Brook Center for Music Research and Documentation, the Modern Language Association, and the Philosopher’s Information Center. The law firm of Quarles & Brady also co-sponsored and hosted the event at their offices in downtown Chicago. Kris Veldheer, CEO, New Vistas Educational Consulting, and ATLA member, presented on the future of Advanced Information Services, and Margot Lyon, ATLA Director of Business Development, was a member of the planning committee.

AAR & SBL Annual Meetings

The Annual Meetings of the American Academy of Religion (AAR) and the Society of Biblical Literature (SBL) were held jointly in Baltimore, November 23-26. ATLA attends the event each year, as it provides opportunities to meet with current and potential publishers and partners, as well as connect with faculty, students, scholars, and members who use our online products.

ATLA hosted an exhibit booth to engage attendees regarding our products and membership options. Gregg Taylor, ATLA’s Licensing Manager, participated on the panel discussion on ‘Alternative Academic’ careers for PhD’s. ATLA also hosted two receptions at the National Aquarium, a few blocks from the conference center. Both our Saturday soirée and Monday breakfast were well attended. Guests enjoyed vista views of the harbor and an extraordinary four-story aquarium exhibit of myriad fishes and sea creatures.

Over 10,000 people attenda this conference, making it one of the most important events ATLA attends, as we continue to cultivate our partnerships and promote our products and member benefits, for the future of the association and those we serve.
Independent Auditor’s Report

To the Board of Directors
American Theological Library Association
Chicago, Illinois

Report on the Financial Statements
We have audited the accompanying financial statements of American Theological Library Association (the Association) which comprise the statements of financial position as of August 31, 2014 and 2013, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion
In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of American Theological Library Association as of August 31, 2014 and 2013, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Mission & Organizational Ends

The mission of the American Theological Library Association is to foster the study of theology and religion by enhancing the development of theological and religious studies libraries and librarianship.

Established in 1946, the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) is a professional association of nearly 1,000 individual, institutional, and affiliate members providing programs, products, and services for theological and religious studies libraries and librarians. As part of fulfilling its mission, ATLA creates electronic resources to support the scholarly study of religion and theology.

ATLA exists so that:

Libraries and librarians are increasingly effective and valued partners in the academic study of religion, theology, and ministry.

Subsidiary Ends 1 and 2 are in ranked order. Below that level, the ends are increasingly specific elaborations, numbered to indicate their relationship to 1 and 2. The ranking of the Ends does not dictate the proportion of resources allocated.

1. Libraries are served by a continuing, prepared, and diverse complement of librarians.

   1.1 A sufficient number of qualified librarians serves libraries.

   1.2 Librarians at all career stages and specializations have increasing knowledge, abilities and skills.

      1.2.1 Librarians are effective advocates for their libraries and the profession.

      1.2.2 Collaborative relationships locally, regionally, and throughout the world enhance the preparedness of librarians.

   1.3 ATLA reflects the diversity of our communities and institutions, including but not limited to religious, racial, ethnic, and gender divisions.

2. Institutions and individuals have access to primary source material and scholarly resources that are organized, preserved, and made accessible at a reasonable expenditure of funds, time, and resources.

   2.1 Libraries, librarians, scholars, students, and religious leaders have access to tools and services that meet current and emerging research needs.

      2.1.1 Research and development initiatives successfully address needs for improved and new products and services.

      2.1.2 Collaborative initiatives involving members successfully address information-related opportunities and problems.

(Adopted by the Board of Directors, February 2013)
