Dear Colleagues:

This Annual Report is a snapshot of a year in the life of ATLA. It has been a significant year. We have celebrated the 60th anniversary of ATLA with the first Annual Conference hosted by ATLA staff and the largest conference attendance ever. Even as they readied for the conference, the staff located, prepared, and moved into a new headquarters—in time to hold the the 60th Anniversary Conference ribbon-cutting ceremony on-site. Though it actually occurred after the fiscal period covered in this report, we also celebrated the first Theological Libraries Month. All while maintaining production of the index and full text products with hardly a skipped beat.

The Annual Report is also an occasion for taking stock of where we are. Knowing where we are provides the basis for moving on, but it also requires that we recognize where we have been. ATLA is now welcoming its fourth generation of members. The Association as they find it is made possible by the dedication and gifts of the previous generations. But the Association as it is today is an evolving one. Today the Association plays a significant role in promoting the profession through partnerships with the Graduate Student Committee of the American Academy of Religion and the Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Once, individual and institutional members were ATLA’s only direct constituency (though the Association has always served theological education more broadly). Now product customers who are not members form an important and very different constituency. Within my experience as member, ATLA moved from depending significantly on the volunteer work of individual members for most of its programming to relying increasingly on a talented and very dedicated staff to facilitate an ever more ambitious professional portfolio.

These changes demonstrate vitality. The future holds both promise and trial. ATLA is blessed with a solid foundation. May we also be blessed with vision, wisdom, and courage to build upon it.

ATLA Board President
Moving On

In the November 2006 edition of the Bulletin of the North American Paul Tillich Society, there is an interesting account of the challenge faced by Alexander J. McKelway, writing his doctoral dissertation under Karl Barth and seeking access to the as-yet-unpublished third volume of Paul Tillich’s Systematic Theology.

McKelway traveled to Hamburg, Germany in 1961 to approach Tillich directly. Tillich responded by handing over the 550-page typed manuscript to the eager doctoral student, allowing him to keep it over the weekend before it was sent off to the publisher. McKelway and his wife went to a wholesale dealer of copy machines—there were no Kinkos in Germany at that time—and spent a whole day copying the manuscript. There was, however, a significant complication.

The reason the process was so time-consuming was that the technology available in Hamburg in 1961 required that each page be hung up to dry as one proceeded . . . They pasted the ill-smelling sheets of paper all over the walls of their economy hotel that night.¹

Professor McKelway still has the manuscript 45 years later, kept in four large binders with yellowed pages, many of which have peculiar stains on them. The stains came from Karl Barth’s pipe, which he smoked as he read through the pages.

This charming story reminded me of ATLA’s dual mission of providing access to theological and religious literature and to preserving it for future generations. It also reminded me of how far we have moved on from that day in 1961, and of how our association has moved on in many ways.

The past year provided dramatic evidence of the way ATLA is moving on—from the physical move to our new headquarters in March 2006 to the announcement that we will be stopping CD ROM production in 2008 and moving entirely to online products; from celebrating our 60th annual conference in Chicago to welcoming a second class of students to the Theological Librarianship course offered through the University of Illinois Graduate School of Library and Information Science.

This annual report seeks to offer you a portrait of ATLA in motion—from our distinguished past to an innovative and challenging future. Through it all, we remain committed to our organizational ends—supporting professional development for theological librarians, insuring the future of the profession, developing tools that provide access to and preserve the literature of theology and religion, and collaborating with all organizations that share our goals and values.

ATLA Executive Director

60th Annual Conference

At this year’s Annual Conference in Chicago, Illinois (June 21-24) more than 400 participants (the largest attendance ever) gathered to hear plenary speakers Daniel Aleshire and Martin Marty. Participants attended more than seventy sessions, including paper presentations, roundtables, interest groups, pre-conference tours and workshops, worship services, and denominational meetings. Nearly 200 participants gathered in the new ATLA headquarters for a ribbon cutting ceremony and more than 160 Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada (ATS) Deans and ATLA members cruised the Chicago River.

ATLA staff members were pleased to host the 60th Anniversary Conference for the first time. More than forty exhibitors and sponsors ensured the financial success of this record-breaking conference.

Memorials

At this year’s annual conference, we offered memorials for three ATLA members who died since the last conference:

SUPPORTING GROWTH

2005–06 • Annual Report
American Theological Library Association
Professional Development Committee

The Professional Development committee (PDC) is charged with organizing and promoting professional development programs for the Association outside of the Annual Conference. The committee met twice at ATLA headquarters to discuss the Theological Librarianship Course progress, and to plan NACO Training and the 2007 Colloquy on the Role of the Theological Librarian in Teaching, Learning and Research.

The PDC administers the regional grant program offering professional development program support for the eighteen regional groups. During the fiscal year, seven programs, funded by $4,600 in grants, took place:

- Chicago Area Theological Library Association, $750
  Environmental Issues in Libraries: Minimizing Your Risk by Proactive Planning and Prevention

- Ohio Theological Library Association, $750
  Plagiarism: Challenges, Strategies, Policies, Practice

- Southwest Area Theological Libraries Association, $750
  Book Lust: Will Google Transform Gutenberg for a New Generation?

- Florida Theological Library Association, $500
  Practical Theology: An Interdisciplinary Approach to Theological Formation and Ministry

- Pitts Theology Library, Emory University, $750
  European Bookbindings of the 16th – 18th Centuries

- Manitoba Association of Christian Librarians, $750
  Cooperative Collection Development in Theological Libraries in Manitoba

- Minnesota Theological Library Association, $350
  Authority Work in the 21st Century Library

Theological Librarianship Course

In September 2005, the first ATLA-sponsored course on Theological Librarianship was offered in partnership with the University of Illinois’ Graduate School of Library and Information Science as part of their LEEP Program. Taught by Carisse Berryhill, Special Services Librarian at Abilene Christian University. Utilizing both synchronous and asynchronous instruction, the course syllabus was designed with counsel from the Professional Development Committee and includes several ATLA members as guest lecturers.

Twelve alumni of the course gathered to facilitate a roundtable at the 2006 Annual Conference and met face to face for the very first time. The first course was deemed successful by all and a second course was planned for fall 2006.

Partnership with the Wabash Center

During the year ATLA continued its discussion with staff from the Wabash Center for Teaching and Learning in Theology and Religion resulting in plans for a second colloquy on the Role of the Theological Librarian in Teaching, Learning, and Research, to be held in April 2007. This workshop, like the first one in 2004, is designed to support new theological librarians (with no more than seven years experience).
Publications Committee

The Publications Committee met in February at ATLA Headquarters to review applications for the 2006 Bibliography Grant and conduct other committee business. The committee decided to revise and update its charge to encompass the following three areas:

1) Serve as a catalyst within the Association for encouraging and supporting scholarly publication;

2) Develop a strategic plan for publishing critical tools for use by members of the profession in keeping with the Mission and Organizational Ends of the Association; (and)

3) Consult with the Professional Development, Annual Conference, Membership Advisory and Education Committees to develop and promote workshops and programs related to scholarly publication.

The Committee planned a successful roundtable discussion at the 2006 Annual Conference designed to gauge interest in and commitment to launching an online Association journal.

During the year the ATLA Publications Committee awarded the 2006 Bibliography Grants to:

- Michael J. Paulus, Jr., Technical Services Librarian, Special Collections, Princeton Theological Seminary Libraries, for his project, “Archibald Alexander: A Bibliographic Essay” and
- Anthony J. Elia, Academic Technology Librarian, JKM Library, for his project, “Christian Cabala—An Annotated Bibliography.”

ATLA Member Benefits

ATLA is pleased to offer a variety of benefits to all categories of membership to support their work. Member usage of these benefits included:

The ATLA/OCLC FirstSearch Consortium proved a valuable benefit to 34 institutional, international institutional and affiliate library members in 2006, including five new institutions.

NACO and CONSER funnel projects add a total of 313 new names, 46 changed names, two new subject headings, four new or changed classification numbers, and 219 CONSER authentications.

Since its inception, the ATLA Serials Exchange (ASE) has been a highly regarded benefit with more than 169 institutions offering 433,890 titles and requesting 239,150 titles.
New Headquarters

During the year the Association was notified that its headquarters at 250 South Wacker Drive had to be vacated because that building had been sold and was scheduled for a complete rehabilitation. After a search of the downtown Chicago area, ATLA located a suitable site nearby – at 300 South Wacker Drive. During the fall of 2006 we developed plans for the new site and negotiated a new 15-year lease. The build-out of the new site was completed between January and March, 2006, and the ATLA offices were moved March 30-31, 2006, with very little disruption to customers and members. The new offices occupy the 21st floor of 300 South Wacker (15,383 square feet), with panoramic views on all sides. There are 26 offices for ATLA staff, three conference rooms, two ranges of compact shelving, a new server room (triple the size of our previous server room), a spacious lunch room, and a reading-lounge area. The new headquarters was dedicated at the Annual Conference on Thursday, June 22nd by ATLA Vice President Duane Harbin with nearly 200 association members and friends attending the celebration.

Endowment Fund Campaign

To celebrate the Association’s 60th anniversary, the ATLA Endowment Committee (Roger Loyd, Elmer O’Brien, Mary Bischoff, Pat Graham) launched a successful drive to raise $6,000 for the ATLA Endowment Fund, designed to insure the future of the Association as a member association. By the end of the fiscal year, the Endowment Fund goal had been surpassed.
New Publication About ATLA

Just in time for the Association's 60th anniversary Scarecrow Press released an important new publication: A Broadening Conversation: Classic Readings in Theological Librarianship; Series: edited by Melody Layton McMahon and David R. Stewart. The new 374 page volume includes essays and papers from the past sixty years, organized in six topical chapters, each introduced by a present-day theological librarian.

Membership Growth

ATLA enjoys an exceptionally high retention rate of more than 90% of institutional members from year to year.

A healthy association also attracts new members, and ATLA’s efforts to expand were fruitful. During the fiscal year (September 1, 2005 – August 31, 2006), the Association attracted two new institutional, one international institutional, and eighteen affiliate members.

Recruitment of New Theological Librarians

In November 2005, ATLA hosted the second annual Alternative Career Luncheon at the American Academy of Religion/Society of Biblical Literature Annual Meeting. This year’s panel featured Dennis Norlin, ATLA Executive Director, Mary Lauer, Director of Programs for Applied Catholic Social Teaching, Cabrini College, and Thomas Breidenthal, Campus Pastor, Princeton University, addressing more than 100 student members.
ORGANIZATIONAL END THREE:
Developing supportive products and services

ATLASerials® Progress

In an effort to offer subscribers a broad range of theological perspectives in all fields of theological and religious studies, ATLA continues to add titles to the ATLASerials® (ATLAS) online collection of major religion and theology journals. From the more than 500 titles indexed in the ATLA Religion Database, ATLAS now includes more than 80 key titles of interest to scholars, faculty, pastors and congregations, and the general public, providing an important cross-section and overview of the many issues and events that have their origin in theology and religion.

New titles posted this year:
- Biblical Interpretation, published by Brill
- Currents in Theology and Mission, published by the Lutheran School of Theology
- Dialogue and Alliance, published by the Inter-Religious Federation for World Peace
- Didaskalia, published by the Providence Theological Seminary
- Presbyterion, published by Covenant Theological Seminary
- Reconstructionist, published by The Reconstructionist Rabbinical College
- Word & World, published by Luther Theological Seminary

As of August 31, 2006 there were 86 journal titles in ATLAS (including prior and succeeding titles) and 192,768 articles and reviews available for view.

Usage of ATLAS continued to grow, and during the year there were more than 3,000,000 journal issues accessed and used by ATLAS subscribers. Revenue from ATLAS continued to increase as well, and by year’s end, ATLA shared $250,000 in royalties with participating publishers.

In addition, fourteen new publication agreements were reached this year:
- Cuadernos de Teología, published by ISEDET (first Spanish language journal accepted for inclusion in ATLAS)
- Disciplíana, published by Disciples of Christ Historical Society
- Exchange, published by Brill
- Journal of Empirical Theology, published by Brill
- Journal of the Interdenominational Theological Center, published by Interdenominational Theological Center

ATLASerials® for Congregations and Clergy

During the year, ATLA took two important steps in expanding its ATLAS for Congregations and Clergy program:

a. ATLA collaborated with the editor of the popular website www.textweek.com to offer trial subscriptions to its users and to link weekly pericope series to relevant articles from the ATLAS collection;

b. ATLA engaged the services of the Alban Institute to provide advice and counsel on promoting ATLAS among congregations and clergy.

The Association also provided grants to nearly 30 of its member institutions to underwrite ATLAS for alumni accounts in exchange for user feedback and opinions.
New Titles Indexed in the ATLA Religion Database *

ATLA staff continued to receive new recommendations of serials to be included for indexing in the ATLA Religion Database, and, following extensive and thorough review, the following twelve titles were added:

- Ars Disputandi, published by Roquade Electronic Publishing Services for Scientists (online)
- Black Theology: an international journal, published by Equinox
- Bulletin for Biblical Research, published by Eisenbrauns
- Congregations: the Alban Journal, published by the Alban Institute
- Cuadernos de Teología, published by ISEDET
- Journal of Ancient Near Eastern Religions, published by Brill
- Journal of Religion & Film, published by the University of Nebraska at Omaha
- Journal of Religion and Society, published by the Rabbi Myer and Dorothy Kripke Center for the Study of Religion and Society at Creighton University
- Philosophia Christi, published by Evangelical Philosophical Society in cooperation with Biola University
- Religion East & West, published by the Institute for World Religions
- St. Tikhon's Theological Journal, published by St. Tikhon's Seminary Press

Future of CD-ROM

At the June 2006 Annual Conference, ATLA announced the cessation of all CD-ROM products by September 2008. This announcement signaled not only the decline in interest in CD-ROM as a format, but the assurance that the Association will be able to produce all of its electronic products online by that time.

It was a year of upgrades and changes, as ATLA staff purchased new hardware and software to facilitate the conversion of the ATLAS® data to searchable PDF format by the spring of 2007. With the aid of the Congregations and Clergy grant from the Lilly Endowment Inc., ATLA was able to purchase a high-end SAN (Storage Area Network) with a storage capacity of more than 9 terabytes.

New Scarecrow Bibliographies Published

Several new publications were issued in the ATLA/Scarecrow publishing series. Jack Ammerman serves as editor of the series.

Paula Youngman Skreslet and Rebecca Skreslet, The Literature of Islam: A Guide to the Primary Sources in English Translation

Continued Strength of Partner Products

ATLA produces the following three partner products:

- Catholic Periodical and Literature Index (CPLI) produced with Catholic library Association
- New Testament Abstracts with Weston Jesuit School of Theology
- Old Testament Abstracts with Catholic Biblical Association

Bolstered by the prior year's achievement of bringing all of the partner products online via EBSCOhost®, ATLA enjoyed revenue growth in this segment of the expanding market.
Cooperative Digital Resources Initiative Expands

During the year, the Cooperative Digital Resources Initiative (CDRI), an association project funded by a grant from the Henry Luce Foundation and freely available on the ATLA website, continued to expand, adding these collections:

Phase 3:
- Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Library The Morton Collection of Biblical Artifacts
  Images of artifacts from the Bible lands (Jordan, Israel, Syria, Iraq, Lebanon, Egypt, Turkey, Greece and Italy) acquired by Dr. William H. Morton, former director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, during the 1940s and 1950s, including inscribed scarabs from Egypt; terracotta lamps and other pottery from Palestine; and ancient Jewish, Roman and Byzantine coins.

Phase 4:
- Abilene Christian University, Brown Library Baptistry paintings in Twentieth-Century Churches of Christ
  - Painted by Blanche Perry: The digital images in this collection are taken from watercolor sketches, hand-tinted black-and-white photographs, and black and white photographs of her paintings made by Blanche Garrett Perry, who was active in painting baptisteries for Churches of Christ from 1937 to about 1955.
  - Photographed by Jack Welch: The digital images in this collection are taken from color 35 mm slides made by ACU English professor Jack Welch (1941-1996) in Churches of Christ, mostly in Texas.
- Andover Newton Theological School, Franklin Trask Library Missionaries appointed by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions
  Daguerreotype images of missionaries appointed by The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The daguerreotypes were selected for inclusion based on physical condition and are part of a larger collection in Franklin Trask Library.
- Asbury Theological Seminary, B. L. Fisher Library Photographs From the Papers of E. Stanley Jones
  A selection of 300 photographs, most are black and white, from the Papers of E. Stanley Jones. The photos span the time from his early adulthood to just before his death. They show the personal side of his life with family photos, document his love of India and its people, and document his evangelistic endeavors.
- Duke University Divinity School. Images of mainline Protestant children and families in the U.S.
  Images of mainline Protestant children and families in the U.S., from denominational and non-denominational magazines dating from the 1920s to the 1970s. Images related to articles as well as advertisements were selected to consider the configurations of “responsible,” “wholesome,” and “productive” families.
- Harvard Divinity School, Andover-Harvard Theological Library Postcards of Unitarian and Universalist Church Buildings
  Images of postcards of Unitarian and Universalist church buildings. Churches in the United States, Canada, and Japan are featured; the largest geographical grouping is from Massachusetts. The postcards were produced beginning in 1898.
Postcards of Methodist Churches in the United States

Images of more than 100 Methodist churches from across the United States, dating primarily from the first half of the twentieth century. The postcards depict many architectural styles of Methodist churches in rural, suburban, and city settings.

Preservation Microfilming Grants

During the year ATLA completed one major microfilming project, made significant progress on a second, and began work on a third. All three projects are supported by major grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities:

• The NEH grant-sponsored project Christianity’s Encounter with World Religions, 1850-1950 was completed in June 2006. The $739,767 NEH-funded grant, which began in May 2000, preserved on microfilm a total of 672 titles, representing 10,300 volumes and 1,182,747 exposures. The materials targeted for preservation included the earliest English language religious serials from non-Christian traditions, journals that documented the rapid expansion of missionary activities during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, and the earliest religious serial literature from nineteenth century syncretistic religious traditions such as theosophy. The seven year project received three no-cost extensions and was completed a full year before the August 31, 2007 deadline. All titles are cataloged as full MARC bibliographic records in Connexion and are CONSER authenticated. The records are also available in APCAT. Phase II of this collection has been marketed by ATLA’s distributor, Thomson Gale. Phase II was available in November 2006, and Phase III will be available in February 2007. It is expected that the grant will be completed by its April 30, 2007, deadline.

• The Religious Periodical Literature of the Hispanic and Indigenous Peoples of the Americas, 1850-1985 microfilm preservation grant was awarded to ATLA by the NEH in May 2005 to preserve 374 titles over a three-year period. The literature to be preserved in this $402,000 grant is significant for understanding the long history of religious traditions among indigenous peoples in North and Latin America and for understanding the more recent growth and development of new movements in Hispanic religious traditions. To date, 18 titles have been preserved, representing 199 volumes on 34 reels and 27,325 exposures. Materials for 128 of the 374 titles have been sent by participating libraries to OCLC Preservation Service Centers (formerly Preservation Resources), ATLA’s filming vendor in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. 118 libraries are participating in the grant. All titles are cataloged as full MARC bibliographic records in Connexion and are CONSER authenticated. The records are also available in APCAT. The Hispanic/Indigenous Peoples grant is slated for completion on April 31, 2008.

Theological Book Network

ATLA continues to support the efforts of the Theological Book Network (TBN) as it gathers weeded volumes from ATLA member libraries and redistributes them in developing countries throughout the world. During the past year ATLA libraries donated 92,552 books; publishers donated 131,303. During the year books were delivered to Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Slovakia, Philippines, China, Bangalore, India, Bangladesh, Romania, Uganda, Austria (for Eastern European distribution), Turkey, Rwanda, Ghana, and Cuba.

Organizational End Four: Stimulating purposeful collaboration

Bibliothèques Européennes de Théologie (BETH)

From September 9–13, Margot Lyon, ATLA’s Director of Business Development, represented ATLA Products and Services at the meeting of BETH in Rome, Italy. Also participating from the U.S. were Eileen Crawford from Vanderbilt University, Divinity Library (ATLA Board member, Special Committee of the Association for International Collaboration member, and honorary personal member of BETH), Mariel Deluca Voth from Bethel Seminary (Special Committee of the Association for International Collaboration member and RLIT representative), Kurt Berends from the Theological Book Network (ATLA Affiliate Member), and Melody Mazuk from Palmer Theological Seminary (Theological Book Network Board member and honorary personal member of BETH).

Library Consultation Program

One of many benefits of institutional membership is eligibility to apply for a grant for a library consultation. This service is designed to help theological libraries assess library operations and facilitate planning by defraying the costs of engaging ATLA members to visit and consult with institutions contemplating improvements in library resources, operations, plans and services. During the past year, one consultation was awarded to Shaw University Divinity School to determine appropriate research level intensity targets for collection development and the state of physical space, processing systems, plans and capacities for managing library growth.

Red Latinoamericana de Información Teológica

Executive Director Dennis A. Norlin represented ATLA at the 6th biennial meeting of Red Latinoamericana de Información Teológica (RLIT, formerly the Latin American Theological Information Network) in Buenos Aires, Argentina, July 10-14. Also representing ATLA were Mariel Deluca Voth (the Latin American representative of the Special Committee of the Association for International Collaboration) and Melody Mazuk and Mayra Picos-Lee who attended as guests. While there, Norlin and Dr. Pablo Adinach, Director of the ISEDET library in Buenos Aires, signed an agreement to add Cuadernos de Teología, ISEDET’s official theological journal, to the ATLAS database. ISEDET (Instituto Superior Evangélico de Estudios Teológicos) is one of the oldest and largest theological libraries in all of Latin America, founded in 1892 and currently serving a student body of nearly 600 students.

Note: * The surplus of $422,170.63 is primarily due to changing the accounting method for expenditures related to the ATLA Religion Database (RDB) and the ATLASerials (ATLAS) journals. Salary and related benefit costs specifically related to the production of RDB records and ATLAS journals will be capitalized. The capitalized amounts of ATLAS only (effective 8/31/2006) will then be amortized over a period of five years. During the year ended 8/31/06 the amount of capitalized costs less amortization is 621,641.89. The actual deficit without capitalizing RDB and ATLAS would have been $199,471.26
MEMBER SERVICES EXPENDITURES AND REVENUE

For the past few years the funding required to support member services and programs has increasingly been drawn from revenue generated by sales of the Association's print, microform, and electronic products. During the FY2005 fiscal year, the level of supplementary support reached 75% of total expenditures for member programs and services.

Under the leadership of Barbara Kemmis, Director of Member Services, we successfully sought to reduce that trend during the FY2006 fiscal year. A significant increase in conference revenue and a significant decrease in expenditures for salary and benefits reduced the need for supplementary funding by more than 10%. Reducing the level of support needed for member services and programs frees more revenue for investment in research and development to enhance and improve ATLA’s products.

INVESTING IN ATLA’S PRODUCTS

In January 2006, ATLA’s databases were reviewed in CHOICE with this comment:

“For almost 60 years, the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) has produced some of the most indispensable tools for researchers in the field of religious studies...”

In order to maintain the high level of ATLA’s print, microform, and electronic products we must continue to invest in research and development. As the ATLAS collection evolves to a searchable PDF format, as we expand the ATLA Religion Database to include indexing of multimedia and electronic resources, as we redesign our production process, and as we investigate the options and requirements for digital preservation, it is imperative that we make significant investments in our technology infrastructure, our software and hardware, the professional development of our staff, and in the counsel and guidance of expert consultants.

2005–06 Annual Report
American Theological Library Association
ATLA’s Department of Preservation Products and Services oversaw three major microfilming projects with grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). Christianity and the Encounter with World Religions was completed in August 2006. Fiscal year 2007 is the anticipated completion date for African American Religious Serials, 1850-1950. The third project, awarded in July 2005, is Religious Periodical Literature of Hispanic and Indigenous People of the Americas, 1850-1985. The three NEH grants, totalling more than $1,280,000, enabled the Association to significantly expand the preservation of endangered religious periodical literature from many cultures.

The third year of the Lilly Endowment Inc. grant, ATLASerials® for Congregations and Clergy, supported expansion of the collection to 86 full-text titles and underwrote subscriptions for hundreds of alumni of ATLA member institutions. In December 2005, ATLA was awarded a second Lilly Endowment Inc. grant to support procurement of the expanded hardware, software, and technology needed to create the fully-searchable text version of ATLAS®.

Report of Independent Auditors

To the Board of Directors of
American Theological Library Association

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the American Theological Library Association (the “Organization”) as of August 31, 2006, and the related statements of activities, and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Organization’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, based on our audit, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the American Theological Library Association as of August 31, 2006, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization and basis of presentation
The American Theological Library Association (the “Organization”) was organized to support and improve theological libraries, and to interpret the role of such libraries in theological education by developing and implementing standards of library service, promoting research, encouraging cooperative programs, and publishing and disseminating literature and research tools.

The Organization reports gifts of cash and other assets and restricted support if they are received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

The accompanying financial statements present the financial position and changes in net assets and cash flows of the Organization. All significant intra-organizational accounts and transactions have been eliminated.

Revenues, expenses, gains, and losses are classified based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions. Accordingly, the net assets of the Organization and changes therein are reported as follows:

Unrestricted net assets—Net assets that are not subject to any donor-imposed stipulations.

Temporarily restricted net assets—Net assets subject to donor-imposed restrictions on their use that may be met either by actions of the Organization or the passage of time.

Permanently restricted net assets—Net assets subject to donor-imposed or other legal restrictions requiring that the principal be maintained permanently by the Organization. Generally, the donors permit the Organization to use all or part of the income earned for either general or donor-specified purposes.

Cash equivalents
The Organization considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an average maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents consisted of money market mutual funds and time deposits. Throughout the year, the Organization has cash balances in excess of federally insured amounts on deposit with various financial institutions.

Revenue recognition
Contributions, which include unconditional promises to give (pledges), are recognized as revenues in the period received or promised. Conditional contributions are recorded when the conditions have been met. Contributions are considered to be unrestricted unless specifically restricted by the donor.

The Organization reports contributions in the temporarily or permanently restricted net asset class if they are received with donor stipulations as to their use. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are released and reclassified to unrestricted net assets in the consolidated statement of activities. Donor-restricted contributions are initially reported in the temporarily restricted net asset class, even if it is anticipated such restrictions will be met in the current reporting period.

Gains and losses on investments and other assets and liabilities are reported as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation or by law.

Inventories
Inventories include material, direct labor and related overhead, and are stated at the lower of cost (computed on a first-in, first-out basis) or market. The Organization writes down its inventory for estimated obsolescence or excess inventory equal to the difference between the cost of inventory and the estimated market value based upon assumptions about future demand and market conditions.

Investments
Investments are reported at fair value.
Investment income classified as operating revenue consists of interest and dividend income on investments and any gains approved for use in operations. All other realized and unrealized gains or losses are classified as nonoperating activity and are available to support operations in future years and to offset potential market declines.

Investments classified as current are available for operations in the next fiscal year.

Use of estimates
The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements. Estimates and assumptions may also affect disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses. Actual results could differ from management’s estimates.

Fair values of financial instruments
Various methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value of each class of financial instrument. Cash and cash equivalents are valued at their carrying amount due to their short maturities. Investments are reported at fair value based on quoted market prices or, in the case of alternative investments, at estimated values provided by the fund managers or general partners based on quoted market prices, if available, or other valuation methods. These estimated values are reviewed by management for reasonableness. The carrying value of all other financial instruments approximates fair value.

Property and equipment
Purchases of property and equipment having an estimated useful life of three or more years are capitalized at cost. Any gain or loss on the sale of property and equipment is reported as other revenues on the statement of activities. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the following estimated useful lives at August 31, 2006:

- Leasehold improvements: 10 years
- Equipment: 5 years
- Furniture and fixtures: 5 years

Intangible Assets

The Organization accounts for intangible assets in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets. Intangible assets primarily consist of religion databases, ATLAS and preservation libraries created through internal costs. The useful lives of the religion databases were determined to be indefinite and, therefore, these assets are not being amortized. ATLAS and the preservation library intangible asset are being amortized over their estimated useful lives of approximately five years.

The impairment evaluation of the carrying amount of intangible assets with indefinite lives is conducted annually, or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that an asset might be impaired. The evaluation is performed by comparing the carrying amount of these assets to their estimated fair value. If the estimated fair value is less than the carrying amount of the intangible assets with indefinite lives, then an impairment charge is recorded to reduce the asset to its estimated fair value. The estimated fair value is generally determined on the basis of discounted future cash flows.

The assumptions used in the estimate of fair value are generally consistent with the past performance of each reporting unit and are also consistent with the projections and assumptions that are used in current operating plans. Such assumptions are subject to change as a result of changing economic and competitive conditions.

Income taxes

The Organization is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code, except on net income derived from unrelated business activities.

4. Net Assets

Unrestricted net assets consisted of the following at August 31, 2006:

Designated by the ATLA Directors for:

- Research and development: $115,372
- Undesignated: $2,738,530
- Total: $2,853,902

Temporarily restricted net assets are available for the following purposes at August 31, 2006:

- Endowment fund: $117,383
- Scholarships and grants: $25,462
- Retro indexing: $1,599
- ATLAS Lilly Phase I: $66,240
- ATLAS Lilly Phase II: $612,042
- Lilly Infrastructure: $81,839
- Total: $904,565
5. Defined Contribution Plan
The Organization maintains a defined contribution retirement plan for all employees who are 19 years of age or older and have completed three months of service. The Plan provides for a mandatory matching contribution equal to the amount of the employee's salary reduction, but not to exceed 10% of the employee's compensation. The Organization's expense totaled approximately $153,000 for 2006.

6. Credit Agreement
At August 31, 2006, the Organization had a credit facility (the “credit agreement”) that provided for up to $1.5 million in borrowings, maturing on December 21, 2006. The credit agreement bears interest based upon 50 basis points over the prime rate. As of August 31, 2006, there were no borrowings outstanding under the credit agreement.

7. Risks and Uncertainties
The Organization's invested assets consist of common stocks, fixed income securities and other investment securities. Investment securities are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, market and credit. Due to the level of uncertainty related to changes in interest rates, market volatility and credit risks, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in these risks could materially affect the fair value of investments reported in the statement of financial position as of August 31, 2006. However, the diversification of the Organization's invested assets among these various asset classes should mitigate the impact of any dramatic change on any one asset class.
